LESSON 3: Past Simple and Present Perfect

TIME EXPRESSIONS and TIME CLAUSE

Time expressions that refer to the present, such as this morning / week / month and today, can be used with either past simple or present perfect verbs.

If we think of this morning (etc.) as a past, completed time period, then we use the past simple; if we think of this morning (etc.) as a time period which includes the present moment, then we use the present perfect. Compare:

- ➔ I didn't shave this morning. (= the morning is over and I didn't shave) and
- ➔ I haven't shaved this morning (= it is still the morning and I might shave later)

In a sentence which includes a time clause with since, we generally prefer a past simple verb in the time clause and present perfect verb in the main clause. The time clause refers to a particular point in the past.

- ➔ Since Mr. Dodson became president unemployed had increased.
(rather than.... has become....)
- ➔ She hasn't been able to play tennis since she broke her arm.
(rather than ... has broken....)

TIME EXPRESSIONS and TIME CLAUSE

Note, however, that we use the present in the time clause if the two situations described in the main clause and time clause extend until the present:

➔ Have you met any of your neighbours since you've lived here? (not...you lived...)

With time clauses introduced by after, when, until, as soon as, once, by the time and the time expressions the minute / second / moment the past simple refers to past, completed events and the present perfect refers to future events. Compare these examples:

➔ After she left hospital (past), she had a long holiday. and

➔ After Lucas has left school (future), he will spending six months in India.

➔ The minute I got the news about Anna (past) I telephoned my parents. and

➔ I'll contact you the minute I've got my exam results. (future)

In the time clause in sentences like this it is possible to use the past perfect instead of the past simple (e.g. After she had left...) and the present simple instead of the present perfect (e.g. After Lucas leaves...) with the same meaning.

RECENT EVENTS

In news reports, you will often read about or hear events introduced with the present perfect, and then the past simple or other past tenses are used to give details:

○ A Russian spacecraft has returned safely to Earth with its two passengers. US astronaut Scott Keane and Russian cosmonaut Olga Kaleri landed in the early hours of Wednesday.

○ An American woman has become the first person to make 2 million contributions to Wikipedia. Esther Miller began editing the site eight years ago.

After the pattern It / This / That is / will be the first time ... we generally use the present perfect in the next clause:

- ➔ That's the first time I've seen Jan look embarrassed. (reporting a past event)
- ➔ It won't be the first time she has voted against the government (talking about a future event)

Note that after It / This / That was the first time ... We generally use the past perfect:

- ➔ It was the first time I'd talked to Dimitra outside the office.

Exercise 1

Complete each sentence with a verb from the box. Use the present perfect or past simple, with a negative form where necessary.

have    go    oversleep    read    spend    wear
